BEING FAITHFUL TO HOME TOWN MERCHANTS

The Avalanche has always pursued a policy of sticking by our home town merchants and have repeatedly rejected advertising offered from outside merchants. These offers have come to us from Bay City, Saginaw, Detroit, and even from merchants located in nearby towns. These have all been declined, with due explanations.

An offer was received from an advertising agent this week. While we would welcome the patronage, still we believe our policy of not accepting such advertising is best for the good of Grayling generally. Our reply will explain our attitude in the matter and it reads as follows:

May 16, 1932
Mr. F. B. Bresler,
907 N. Dean Street,
Bay City, Mich.

Dear Mr. Bresler:
We have your letter of the 18th in which you wish to know if the Avalanche would accept advertising from Bay City and Saginaw, and, if so, our rate.

General advertising is always acceptable providing it is reliable and does not conflict with local dealers merchandising similar lines.

We surmise that your offerings are of the latter nature and, as such, would not be acceptable under our present policy. You will understand, no doubt, that local merchants support our local activities and pay taxes for the support of our community and have always been loyal to the interests of Grayling, and, under such conditions we feel it is the duty of the home town newspaper to be faithful to their interests.

We deeply appreciate, however, the courtesy of your inquiry. Any advertising that does not conflict with local merchants will be most welcome. Our rate is 25¢ per inch.

Thanking you for your inquiry, we are,

Yours very truly,
CRAWFORD AVALANCHE

Eagle in Mythology From his habit of darting down with stunning velocity from a great height, which made it almost invisible to the naked eye, the ancients professed to regard the eagle as the messenger to earth of the high gods. Greece and Rome called it the bird of Zeus or Jove and in sculpture and painting showed it as bearing heaven's lightning with it.

For surety bonds call O. P. Schumann. Phone 111.

Mrs. C. J. Green and daughter Anna Mae are visiting in Bay City for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Landers of Pontiac spent the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Mc-Leod at Birchwood Lodge.

makes of machines, carried in stock.

and Victor adding machines. Avalanche Office. Phone 111.

Dr. and Mrs. G. B. Moffat are enjoying a visit from the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Moffat and his sister Miss Helen Moffat.
Also Mrs. Moffat's mother Mrs. Oliver Masters, all of Toronto, Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Alexander were hosts at a very beautifully appointed dinner for six guests Wednesday evening. The evening was spent playing bridge, high scores being held by Mrs. Carl Peterson and Mr. Esbern Olson.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Borchers are entertaining Mrs. Alfred Sablotny and little daughter Joan of Decatur, Ill. Mrs. Sablotny was formerly Vera Hollingsworth, daughter of Ed. Hollingsworth, at one time residents of Grayling.

Alfred Olson has sold his confectionery business in Detroit and is Mrs. N. P. Olson. He expects to spend most of the summer in Grayling. He accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Harold McNiven home Sunday, they having spent the week end in Detroit.

Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Keyport entertained a company of ladies and gentlemen at a delightful bridge party at their home Friday evening. Six tables of bridge were enjoyed and a delicious lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. Lorane Sparkes and T. W. Hanson held the high scores while Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Green received congratulations.

James Pratt passed away at Mercy Hospital Saturday evening at 6 o'clock after an illness of a few weeks. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon from the M. P. church at Frederic with Rev. Chas.
E. Browning officiating. Interment was at Frederic cemetery. Surviving Mr. Pratt besides his widow are eight children, four daughters, Jesse, Bertha, Mrs. Rose James and Mrs.
Florence Love, and four sons, Edward, Ray, Theodore and Junior. Also two brothers Dan and George and one sister Mrs. Anna Wells, all of Frederic.

Attorney Glen Smith of Lapeer was calling on friends in Grayling Wednesday. He was at one time prosecuting attorney for Crawford county, later going to Detroit where he practiced his profession and for the past 10 years he has practiced law in Lapeer and is now prosecuting attorney of Lapeer county. Glen says this is the first time in 14 years that he has stopped off in Grayling to spend any length of time, and that he has enjoyed visiting with some of his former associates and friends. It is our opinion that Glen was one of the best prosecutors Crawford county ever had. He was a competent lawyer, a hard worker and wasn't afraid to tackle anything and everything that came up, and he almost always won his cases.

It is with regret that we receive the announcement that Carl W.
Peterson will close his store here and will move to Petoskey. Carl was born in Grayling and after leaving school became associated with his father in the jewelry business, which business in 1922 he took over and conducted. His store has always been an attraction to visitors and has won high praise for its beautiful stock of merchandise and the attractiveness of his window and store displays. Without doubt his was the most attractive store in Grayling, and we are indeed sorry it is being discontinued. Mr. and Mrs. Peterson too will be greatly missed. These fine young people have had a prominent part in the business and social life of our community. Carl will be associated with J. F. Reusch in Petoskey in a similar line of business.
The local store will be closed this week. Mr. and Mrs. Peterson have the best wishes of a host of friends.

FUNERAL OF JOHN SLINGER LAND HELD THURSDAY

John B. Slingerland, who passed away at his home Wednesday morning of last week, was born at Lapeer, Mich., in 1878. When just a young man he came to Grayling and had lived here since, except for 7 years spent in Pontiac. Mr. Slingerland was employed as millwright in the several lumber mills here and was always active until his health failed about 7 months ago and he had to give up his labors. The cause of death was heart trouble. About 35 years ago he was united in marriage to Cora Caplin and to this union two children were born.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon from the Michelson Memorial church with Rev. H. J.
Salmon officiating and interment was in the Elmwood cemetery. Surviving besides his widow are two children Wesley of Grayling, and Mrs.
Irene Sawyer of Pontiac, also two brothers, Henry of Houghton Lake and Norman of Grayling.

Those in attendance at the funeral from out of town were Mr. and Mrs.
George Slingerland, Henry Slingerland of Houghton Lake, Mrs. Lily Conarty of Flint, Mrs. Irene Sawyer of Pontiac.

WASHINGTON NOTES AND COMMENTS

(By Congressman Roy O. Woodruff, Tenth Michigan District.)

I doubt whether during the last fifty years there has been a death of a single individual in this country that has so shocked our people everywhere as has the death of the Lindbergh baby. The circumstances surrounding its abduction and murder have been so horrifying as to baffle description. It has done more than any other one thing could have done to direct the attention of the people everywhere to the apparent breakdown of the law-enforcing agencies within the states and the necessity of arming the Federal Government with the authority to handle such cases as this.

The United States is a group of forty-eight separate and distinct Governments, each being a part of the nation as a whole. Inherent in the states is the police power within the confines of their own borders.
The only powers of a police nature, or otherwise, possessed by the United States are those expressly delegated to it by the Constitution. Under the circumstances and because of this limitation, Congress cannot enact a law giving police powers to the Federal Government covering crimes conceived and perpetrated wholly within a state.

There is one clause in the Constitution, however, under which Congress can give authority to the Federal Government to act in criminal activities which extend in any way whatsoever across State lines. This is the provision of the Constitution which provides that "Congress shall have the power to regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several states, and with the Indian Tribes." This is found in Section 8 of Article I. Pursuant to this Constitutional provision, Congress has enacted laws in regard to the use of the mails; the transportation of stolen vehicles, the theft of goods in transit between the states, etc.

It has been suggested that because the Lindbergh child was kidnapped in New Jersey and that subsequent developments indicate it was murdered there, probably without having been taken across state lines, that the Federal Government could not be given with authority to act in this case. This reasoning is fallacious, of course, because it is well known that the kidnapers and murderers operated from across state lines, as negotiations were carried on with them and the $50,000 ransom was paid outside the State of New Jersey.

The records of kidnapping in the United States and investigations that have been made up to date disclose the fact that hundreds of these crimes are committed annually and that in more than thirteen per cent of the cases, the victims are murdered. Almost invariably kidnapping activities extend across state lines.
These criminal gangs are highly organized with unlimited money at their disposal and they operate against any person able to raise $5,000 or more.

This particular criminal activity is effected with a greater degree of safety than almost any other that can be named. They watch their opportunity and when, take possession of the individual to be kidnaped, remove him to a place of concealment and safety and negotiate for the ransom at their leisure. The threat of torture and death is always held over the victims and their relatives and it is only in rare instances that anyone engaging in this nefarious practice has been brought to the bar of justice.

It is an outrageous situation when one considers the fact that while it is a Federal crime to take a stolen automobile across state lines; that it is a violation of the Federal statutes to break into a railroad box-car and steal a can of tomatoes, kidnappers, bank robbers, highwaymen, murderers, and racketeers of every kind and description can carry out their plans with apparent immunity, knowing that no Federal law can now reach them.

That President Hoover is impatient with this situation is indicated by the fact that, notwithstanding his lack of authority, he has directed every law-enforcement agency of the Government to aid in tracking down and bringing to justice those individuals guilty of the Lindbergh atrocity. It is a fact, of course, that every penny expended for this purpose will be expended without authority of law, but a member of either branch of Congress, or anyone else who should attempt to criticize the President and embarrass him because of this action, would, in my judgment, bring down upon his head the justified wrath of an outraged citizenship.

For two years now I have been urging upon the Judiciary Committee of the House the wisdom of placing upon the statute books the bill I have introduced in the last two Congresses to give the Federal Government the authority to act in these interstate crimes. I am in hopes that the Lindbergh case will prove the straw that will break the camel's back of resistance I have met whenever I have approached the Judiciary Committee on this subject, and that this bill may become the law without further delay.

I have taken this matter up with members of the Senate and during the past week have had a long interview with Senator Norris of Nebraska, Chairman of the Judiciary Committee of that body. The Senator recognizes the inability of the states to handle this growing menace, and, knowing the situation in the House of Representatives, has advised me to have my bill introduced by some member of the Senate.

you will find the time-proved and reliable Chevrolet motor, which combines unequalled economy with smoothness, speed, quietness and flexibility Raise that big, impressive Chevrolet hood! The fine, modern, six-cylinder engine underneath is one of the chief reasons why Chevrolet continues to be America's largest-selling automobile! For that engine is a six—and only a six, as Chevrolet builds it; combines both built-in smoothness and maximum economy. That engine is mechanically sound! Three and a half years of continuous improving, refining, and testing have made it as nearly perfect as it can be! That engine is thoroughly proved—Its basic design and construction have been tested and proved by billions of miles of service. That engine is up-to-date in every respect—It develops 60 horsepower—delivers a speed of from 65 to 70 miles an hour—and accelerates from a standstill to 35 miles an hour in less than 7 seconds. Its advantages are yours for as little as $445—Due to new reduced prices, the new Chevrolet Six now sells for one of the very lowest prices in the market.

which event, he will have it referred to the proper sub-committee for action and report. I hope to have the bill introduced in the Senate this coming week, and when the preliminaries have been disposed of, to have it considered favorably by the Senate. If this is done, it will be sure to have a favorable effect on the House Judiciary Committee members who have so long closed their eyes to the necessity for this legislation.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear mother who passed away three years ago, May 23, 1929.

This day brings back sad memories Of one who has gone to rest, And those who think of her today Are those who love her best.

Off and off our thoughts do wander To a grave not far away, Where we laid our dear loving mother Three years ago today.

We think of her in silence;
No eye can see us weep.
But many silent tears are shed While others are asleep.

He has chosen newspapers to carry the advertising messages, he told the Lewisham Chamber of Commerce at its annual dinner. THE WILD MEN OF BORNEO

THERE were two of them, it seems, "Waino and Putano, the only original wild men of Borneo," according to Professor Hutchins, "lecturer" at old Austin and Stone's in Boston. The open-mouthed crowd, led on by his story of how old Captain Hammond landed at Borneo and after a terrible battle captured the two specimens of natives within, paid out the 12½ cent admission fee and passed eagerly inside. What they saw were two dwarfs, not much more than three feet high apiece, whose long fair hair and beards, and features were obviously Teutonic, who howled and grunted in true wild man style and performed amazing feats of strength.

Just who Waino and Putano were we will never know. They were born about 1825, it is said, of some German farming family living near Weston, Mass., which did not care to claim as its own two circus freaks. Deaf mutes and of sluggish mentality, they led a secluded youth. Their public life began under the management of H. A. O. Warner, veteran showman of Waltham, who accompanied them on the road and gave them a home during off seasons. Dressed in tight and trained to roar and shake their straggling beards at curious little boys, the odd pair were enormously successful as wild men. It is said they were at one time receiving $800 a week for showing. Waino died in 1902. Putano, though crippled by injuries received when he tried to lift a fat man from the audience, lost his balance and fell, with the 300 pounds on top of him, lived until 1912.

Sees Chance for Another Deluge

Should the average temperature of the entire world rise only a few degrees, another deluge, like that described in the Scriptures, would sweep the earth, submerging the great cities and causing a rise of more than 100 feet in the level of the oceans, according to a statement made before the American Meteorological society by Dr. William Humphreys of the United States weather bureau. This great flood of water would result from the melting of the ice caps, more than a mile thick, which surround the poles and contain more than 1,000,000 cubic miles of water. The photograph shows Doctor Humphreys indicating the area of the polar ice caps on a globe at his office in Washington.

NATION CONSUMES HUGE SUPPLY OF SOFT DRINKS

More than 11,000,000,000 bottles of non-alcoholic beverages are needed each year to quench the thirst of Americans, and this does not include the many unbotled mixed drinks sold at soda fountains, according to J. W. Sale, beverage expert of the Federal Food and Drug Administration. This is equivalent to about 91 bottles annually for every man, woman, and child in the United States. Sale estimates that the value of these drinks was well over half a billion dollars last year.

"The choicest fruit-type beverages on sale in the United States are the fruit juices," Sale says. "These include the juice of apples, grapes, grapefruit, oranges, lemons, loganberries, pineapples, cranberries, and pomegranates. When a buyer sees such words as 'grapefruit juice,' 'orange juice,' or 'grape juice' on the bottle label or cap, unaccompanied by any other explanatory statements of composition, he may be sure that the products are pure juices of the fruits named. Some purchasers desire pure fruit juices, and enforcement of the national pure food law insures these persons the article desired, if they will read the label. The law also requires that an accurate statement of the quantity contained be printed upon the label."

"Some of the fruit juices are made into fruit ades by the addition of sugar and water. The fruit juice content of such beverages must not be misrepresented. For instance, designs of fruit may not be used unless a characteristic amount of the juice of the named fruit is present. Various combinations of fruit juices, flavoring and coloring materials, water, and sugar are also available. Hundreds of varieties of such drinks are commonly on sale."

"The traffic in soft drinks is controlled by Federal and State pure food and health officers who check the honesty of labels, the possible presence of harmful ingredients, and the sanitary quality of the liquids. The Federal food law requires, among other things, that labels on beverages shall bear no statements or designs which are false or misleading, and it further specifies that imitations shall be labeled as such."

SECOND MARRIAGES

By THOMAS ARLE CLARK
Executive Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

Put it from me to say anything regarding the second marriage. I have known scores of most successful ones.
Often a man seems by his first experience to have learned wisdom and so makes a much better selection
the second time than the first.
An acquaintance of mine, who seems to have formed the habit of marriage, did better and better as time went on, and when he led his fourth partner to the altar, showed a really discriminating judgment, and seems in this last relation even happier than in any of the others.

It is not the marriage itself which concerns me, for that is a matter which every widow or widower must personally decide; it is the conditions and sometimes the embarrassments which arise among those who are chronically getting married which give me the subject for thought. What attitude should one take to those who have departed this life, and who have gone on to other worlds?

Nancy was visiting the Coltons not long ago, and was admiring a piece of bric-a-brac which stood on the mantel. She had forgotten that Mrs.
Colton was not a first edition, and thoughtlessly exclaimed:

"Where did you get this beautiful little statue?"

"I don't just know," the latest Mrs.
Colton replied, "it belonged to one of Mr. Colton's wives."

Now what can one say in such a situation accepting to confirm the fact that the article in question certainly is a knock-out.

"What are you going to write to Carrie and Frank?" asked me a few nights ago. He had evidently just received, as I had, the announcement of the marriage of two of our rather intimate acquaintances, each of whom had previously been married and whose partners we had known well. That was exactly what I had been considering in my mind, and not being able to think of anything sufficiently delicious, I had written nothing.

Well, what should one say in such a situation? Should he let the next take care of itself and make no reference to it, or what? I am still uncertain, and that is why second marriages are sometimes an embarrassment to me.

She Reduced 38 Pounds The Safe Way

"I have been taking Kruschen Salts for 4 months, and I think they are wonderful. I am 32 years old and 5 ft. 2 in. tall. I was very fat.
I weighed 165 lbs. and now I weigh 127 lbs. and feel fine. If I let up taking the Salts one morning I feel lazy and heavy." Mrs. Florence Laftus, Boston.

This is just one of hundreds of letters we get every month—Kruschen not only causes you to lose fat but while you are losing it you gain in health—in vivaciousness—you lose fat where fat is most prominent and at the same time keep stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels functioning naturally.

"Any drug store in the world will sell you a jar of Kruschen for a trifling sum—take one-half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning—go light on salty meats, potatoes and sweets. But for your health's sake demand and get Kruschen Salts—imitations are numerous.
It's the little daily dose that does it."

IRE is just another accident you do not expect. But fires do occur—in many cases causing serious financial loss to those who least expect it.
For this reason keep your insurance adequate at all times.

Let us help you.

"Believe it or not, Colon Geister has the fishing fraternity enthusiastically aroused by the announcement that he landed two grayling while fishing in Beaver Creek last Thursday. ALL STATE PARKS TO OPEN SOON

Sufficient funds have been provided to permit reopening of all of Michigan's state parks during the 1932 season. The Parks Division of the Department of Conservation announced today.

Thirteen of the parks are now open to the public and the rest of the parks will be open May 28 in time to accommodate the thousands who begin the camping and outdoor season with Memorial Day.

All of the state parks superintendents and their assistants began work May 15 in preparing the parks for the summer's crowds and all accommodations will be ready for the opening day.

State park patrons this year will find new buildings and additional facilities at several of the parks. The parks now open are:

Bay City, Dodge Bros. No. 3, East Tawas, Fort Wilkins, Grand Haven, Hartwick Pines, Holland, Walter J. Hayes Interlochen, Island Lake, Muskegon, Wilderness and J. W. Wells.

A previous announcement that limited finances would necessitate the closing of several of the parks brought a flood of complaints to the Department.

According to early attendance records the number of visitors during 1932 is expected to exceed all previous seasons.

Sunday Apparel

When one speaks of "glad rags" "glad" retains its old meaning of bright, flashy or gay in color. "Rags" is frequently used to signify wearing apparel in general. Hence glad rags are Sunday-go-to-meeting clothes.

DEPT. OF STATE

STATE NEWS BULLETIN

As the result of acts adopted by the special session of the legislature, between 4,000 and 5,000 non-profit corporations in Michigan can secure a new legal corporate entity by making proper reports and paying requisite fees to the corporation division of the department of state before Sept. 1, 1933.

Several years ago, through confusion of laws a great many non-profit corporations had their corporation papers voided through failure to make reports. In many instances officials of the corporations did not discover what had happened until the corporations no longer legally existed. In numerous instances the corporations held considerable property.

The law did not vest any discretionary power in the Secretary of State when charters of non-profit corporations were rendered void and this defect was remedied by the special session. But the new law specifies that proper reports and fees must be filed with the department of state before Sept. 1, 1933.

A similar situation existed with regard to rural cemetery associations, and these organizations were given an opportunity to secure a renewal of their charters in the same manner.

Before many years have elapsed Michigan motorists will find uniform traffic laws in nearly every state east of the Mississippi river. This statement was made by Orville E. Atwood, chief of the motor vehicle division of the department of state, after returning from a conference of motor vehicle administrators in Washington.

Michigan participates in these conferences by authority of the 1931 legislature. Proposals are to be made to the 1933 legislature of Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Wisconsin, he said, that will provide for identical traffic laws in the four states, if adopted.

NO FREE FISHING LICENSES TO VETERANS

There is no provision in Michigan law which permits the issuance of free fishing licenses to World War veterans, according to the Department of Conservation.

A rumor has spread recently which has resulted in numerous inquiries of the Department as to whether World War veterans may procure a fishing license free of charge or at a reduced fee. Some of the inquiries have come from outside the state.

Although such provisions are included in the laws of some other states, no resident trout fishermen or non-residents fishing in Michigan waters are exempt from purchasing a license.

Can't Laugh Them Off

Horizontal wrinkles across the brow come, we read, from laughing and from worry, both of which have a tendency to throw the skin into horizontal folds. So if you have wrinkles over your forehead you see what chance you have of laughing them off. —Arkansas Gazette.

MICHIGAN AFFAIRS

BY A. H. GANSSER

Physician Heal Thyself.

Now that the extraordinary session of Michigan's Legislature is a matter of record, our business men and taxpayers generally can take a long look forward. As a result of this special session, the banks of Michigan can take on a new lease of life, predicated upon nation wide business conditions. Our business men and taxpayers can now take up their wishes and future welfare with Congress which is still in session. Judging by Michigan comment, business men and taxpayers are anxious to have Congress finish its work, that they may know exactly where they are at, at least for the next year. But this is easier said than done. International business and financial conditions must be considered. America since the start of the World War has become a creditor nation. Before the war we were a debtor nation. Today we learn that some fifteen billions of American dollars have gone to Europe and South America since the end of the World War. This flood of American gold and credit stimulated the export of American products for the boom years from 1921 to 1929. It also stimulated much modern construction in Europe and South America, much of it of the unproductive and luxury type. Some even went to building competitive manufacturing plants and the like. So today we learn that America actually paid in gold and credit for the goods we sent over in those hectic boom years. High commissions for selling those foreign bonds and the promise of high interest, lured American gold and credit. The same lure put all America deeply in debt at home. Came the moratorium and default by our foreign debtors in 1929, creating new and difficult problems.

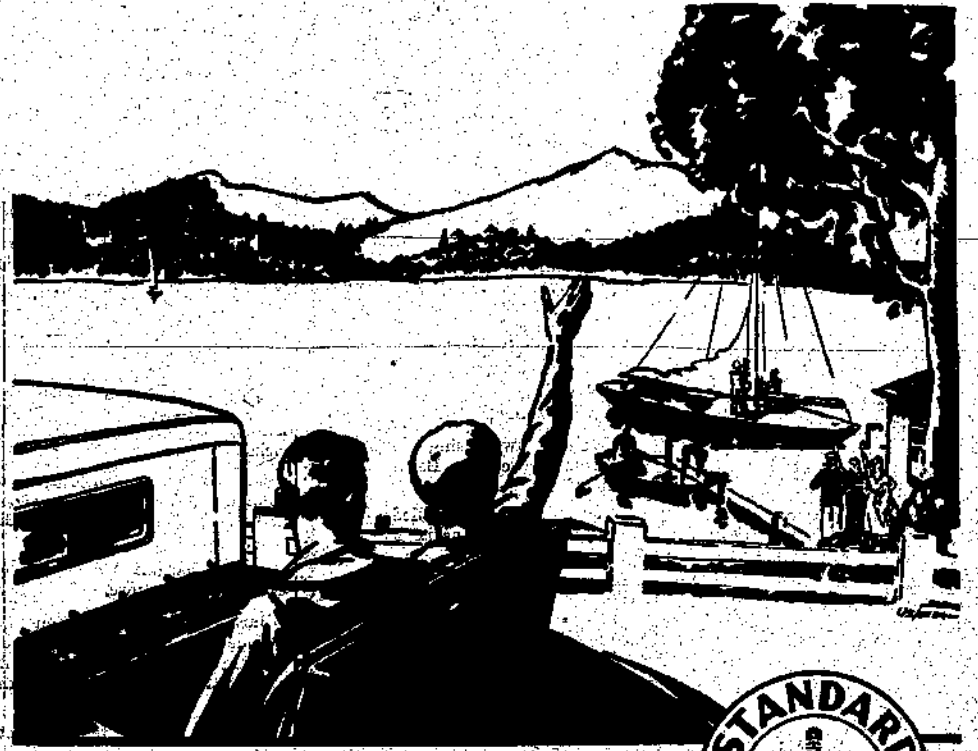

Best To Face The Facts.

Much of this internal and international credit trend was hidden from the casual observer, even in high places. Sufficient for the day, were the evils thereof. On with the dance. Just possibly the high production and exchange pressure of the World War, had brought some new economic factors permanently to the fore. Paper profits in the speculative markets indicated something like that. Europe and South America had similar phenomena in that hour. Ten million killed in the war, with five million permanently disabled, reduced the workers for farm, forest, mine and factory. There was at first little unemployment. High finance that worked under war conditions worked after the war, so long as America extended unlimited loans and credit. Washington and New York had faith in the honor and credit of Europe and South America. Out of it all came an over extension of credit, both at home and abroad, that artificially stimulated business for some years. Then America and the world had to learn once again, that the eternal laws of supply and demand, of thrift and industry, cannot be long ignored or defied. So today we learn for the first time, some of the major factors that created the present world wide readjustments. Europe and Asia, as well as North and South America learned to speed up production from 1914 to 1919. At the same time, lowered living conditions reduced the markets of the world, by lowering the buying power of all concerned. These are the grim business factors confronting us today. Physical ills that are bravely faced, lend themselves more easily to corrective cure and treatment. Economic problems similarly must first stand the test of pitiless diagnosis, before remedies can be helpfully used. Washington and New York have recently come to this same conclusion. For now for the first time, America is getting the hard, cruel facts.

Adversity Brings Much Good.

For some months after the debacle of 1929, there was a studied effort to conceal the inexorable facts. Nostrums and panaceas were broadcast, world wide. Prosperity was just around the corner. Today we know the bitter truth. All the world is suffering from the after effects of the most wasteful and destructive of all wars. Wealth created through a hundred years of industry, thrift and inventive genius, was ruthlessly destroyed in five short years. The best customers for American farmers and industry, were put out of the buying market. Reduction in farm acreage and output of industry are today a dire necessity. Production, world wide, has outdistanced consumption. But now that America learns the exact facts, there is a very definite movement to meet the new situation, both at home and overseas. Every state and local community is adjusting itself to the new economic standards, by cutting down expenses. Economy and tax reduction are the call of the hour. Congress is slowly but surely being brought to this same hard solution. Inexorably it leads to more idle men and more under consumption. Equally unfortunately America has gone from the extreme of inflation, to the other extreme of ruthless deflation. Neither extreme represents our economic facts and factors. Here the courage and common sense of our people are being manifest. Time to remember, that America is a continent in extent, self contained and self sufficient. Always some 90% of all our business is home business. We are still the richest country in all the world. We need but adjust ourselves to the new conditions, with our own prosperity first in mind. We will make our own best sugar, and so keep the American sugar dollar busy around home. We will live

Diet for Ostriches

Ostriches are herbivorous and on ostrich farms they are pastured on alfalfa in summer and fed alfalfa hay, wheat straw, barley, oats and other grain in winter. Like other birds they require grit and they are notorious for swallowing all sorts of objects, such as stones, pieces of iron and the like. As a rule ostriches will not eat fish why they are extremely hungry.
